The New York Times highlighted in a December 1st article Jose Corchado, an RDS Delivery Service courier who has overcome a learning disability to master drawing comic book characters in gel pen. "He's a hidden treasure!" boomed Larry Zogby, President of RDS Delivery, and the pride he takes in his work and in his artwork overshadows any disability.

RDS is proud to distinguish itself as an employer that nurtures talent within its staff and supports its employees' individual strengths. RDS has won numerous awards for its efforts to reach out and give employment opportunities to differently abled individuals like Jose.
